

The
Flash 2012
Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving: Then & Now

By Rebecca Krause

Contents

Editorial // 2
Meet the Freshmen // 3-4
Senior Spotlights // 5-8
Opinions // 9
Sports // 11-12
Entertainment // 13-14

Coming up on the 22nd of November is Thanksgiving, the holiday where we remember the Pilgrims' thanks and express our own thanks as well. Along with the thanks comes a delicious menu of traditional foods, such as turkey, mashed potatoes, rolls, cranberry sauce, and for dessert: spicy pumpkin pie with whipped cream. (Getting hungry just thinking about it, right?)

The first Thanksgiving occurred in 1621 when the Pilgrims thanked God for His care. The meal consisted of simply venison, fish, fowl, bread, and pumpkin stew. Yet the Pilgrims were thankful, even for the little they had.

In 1863, President Lincoln proclaimed Thanksgiving an official holiday, making it the fourth Thursday of November. Before that, different states had celebrated it on different days. Today, millions of people celebrate Thanksgiving. That's a lot compared to the 150 Pilgrims and Indians at the first Thanksgiving. Let us all thank God for His many blessings this Thanksgiving and for Thanksgivings to come.

Thank You!

This being the Thanksgiving issue, the staff and editors of the Flash would like to take this time to thank everyone in the faculty and staff for everything they do for us that we might not notice or take for granted. Thanks for all your hard work! We appreciate it!

Flash Staff

Editors

Lydia Albrecht & Johanna Ohlmann

Layout Editors

Hannah Hulke & Jess Schaller

Advisor

Prof. Joe Lau

Typists

Lauren Lisak, Sarah Tester & Olivia Albrecht

Special Thanks to...

Dan Gullerud, the Freshmen Parents

Photographers

Kirsten Brandle & Sarah Joos

For this Issue

Contributors

Rebecca Krause Nathan Rodebaugh

Darin Lau Logan Gerbitz

Michelle Radtke Prof. Gullerud

Nathan Buck Becca Naumann

Abby Sydow Derek Barthels

Joseph Albrecht

Cover Art

Abby Naumann

From

The Editors

On the night of November 1st, we had the opportunity to watch the CMA's. For those of you who don't know what that is, it's the Country Music Awards. We have a passion for country music. We often got very ecstatic when the country musicians we love got awards for Best Vocal Group, Male Vocalist of the Year, Female Vocalist of the Year, and the greatest honor, Entertainer of the Year, all leading up to the dedication of the famous Willie Nelson. There were also live performances from some of our favorite artists. Hosted by Brad Paisley and Carrie Underwood, the CMA's were overall very entertaining and exciting. If you wish to learn more about this, ask your editors:)

Happy Birthday!

1- Becca Naumann

2- Deb Bernthal

3- Lorraine Busse,
Leah Fleischer

11- Joey Beekman

20- Alex Fleischer

22- Kayla Barthels

23- David Ude

24- Andy Mackensen

25- Jack Mielke

27- Rob Sauers

Meet the Freshmen!

Timothy Schaller

Timothy was born on May 12, 1998 in Cheyenne, WY. We moved to E.C. when he was only 3 weeks old. He has 4 other brothers- 1 older, 3 younger. Mattias started calling him T.T. when they were little and we still call him that (sorry, Timothy). He had curls in the back of his hair until I cut it and since then it has been really straight. I can say without bias that he was sooo cute as a toddler. He had a superman fetish for a while and always wore a cape. We tease him at home about his talent for taking things apart and only half the time putting them back together. He's a hard worker, compassionate, and likes being outside. Timothy likes football, basketball, running, baseball, and fishing. He does not like sharing a room with Mattias. He seems to lose expensive things like money and a tackle box full of lures. He really likes smoothies and has his own personal blender.

Jesse Noeldner

Hmmm...some interesting facts for Jesse Noeldner, he's #3 of 10, born in Austin, Texas, loves to fish, summers are spent in Mammoth Lakes, California logging, camping, and capturing chipmunks as pets :) If you happen to see Jesse around campus you'll most likely see a huge smile on his face.

Caitlin Sandeen

Caitly was born in Fargo, ND. Her dad delivered her and it says that on her birth certificate. Her dad is in the military and has been deployed twice; once when she was 5 and once when she was 11. Caitly likes to play volleyball and she loves art. She loves Tutti Frutti. She has one brother, Curtis. Caitly wants to be a neonatal nurse some day.

Elizabeth Fox

Elizabeth Fox was born in Houston, Texas on Memorial Day, May 25, 1998. When she was about 2 years old, we were eating dinner out at a restaurant and she couldn't seem to sit still, so her father told her she must have "ants in her pants." She immediately got off her chair and started taking her pants off because she thought she literally had ants in her pants! I think her favorite band is Journey. Her favorite thing to do is a toss-up between singing and texting. A close second is talking on the phone and/or reading. She considers "work" to be anything she doesn't like to do. Her favorite sport is Volleyball. She is outgoing, has a generous nature and is very good with small children.

C N C
A I A
R N R
L E L

If you saw the play, you would know I (Carl) was the guard who returned Sherlock's number in the last scene. It was a neat experience getting chosen for the play. As an actor, I had to memorize lines, perform actions, and basically turn into "not me." It was a really fun time, because I got to interact with people and got to know them.

We had a lot of fun putting it all together. We will all have our favorite lines, props, characters, and backstage memories. The only part I didn't like was the fact that it went so fast. I am so glad it went so well and I look forward to many more productions. Thanks to all my fellow cast members, Rachel Schrader, Dwight Krause, tech crew, Aaron Gullerud, Leah Fleischer, Claire Abbas, and to all the pros for making this play so awesome.

Seniors Share Their Words of Wisdom:

"Do what you need to to get into college where you want to. Spend as much time as you can with your classmates 'cause they are awesome."

-Kenny Winters

"Live your life but live it to God's glory. Don't hug in the hallways because apparently that's bad."

-Claire Lovelien

Don't do anything too stupid the first two years and get a bad reputation, so they don't hate you for the next two years and use you as the example of bad kids. Don't be "the sophomore boys."

-Aaron Joos

More about these Seniors on the pages ahead!

Class of 2013

Claire

Marie

Lovelien

By Hannah Hulke

Q: Tell us a little about your early days.

A: I was born on the first day of 1995, and it was awesome. I was close to being the first baby of the new year, but I wasn't. The parents of the real first baby got a year's worth of diapers and a ride in a limo, and my parents just got a "hey, your baby's purple," because my umbilical cord was around my neck.

Q: Before you were part of the CLC, you went to an ELCA church, what was their school like?

A: It was cooler than any school I've been to because we could do whatever we wanted to.

Q: What was your favorite year of school here? Why?

A: Sophomore. Larissa Wiest. Prof's Sullivan's English class, and History. History 10 has been my favorite class so far.

Q: What do you plan on doing next year?

A: Being in a transfer program from CVTC to River Falls for occupational therapy.

Q: What's working at Subway like?

A: I like when the truck drivers come in because they're really fun. I see all the ILC people that work at Menards a lot.

Q: If you could have dinner with anyone, it would be:

A: Eric Church

Q: Do you have any hobbies outside of school?

A: I really enjoy photography and hope to make a living from it someday.

Favorites

Color: Orange

Singer: Eric Church

Food: Anything spicy

High School Moment: When Caitlin saw something that no one else saw in Biology sophomore year.

Prof: Buck

Animal: Horse

Movie: Pearl Harbor

Subway Sandwich: A melt with extra bacon

Class of 2013

Kenneth Allan Winters

By Sarah Tester and Lydia Albrecht

Sarah and Lydia: Where were you born?

Kenny: Iowa

S & L: Where are all the places you've lived?

K: Iowa

S & L: What's your favorite thing about living in the country?

K: The freedom to do whatever you want.

S & L: How many siblings do you have?

K: Two older sisters and a younger brother. And a mom and a dad and a niece.

S & L: What do you like to do in your free time?

K: Frolf, drive, party...

S & L: How many raccoons have you shot at once?

K: One night we got 19 in one barn.

S & L: Describe your relationship with your scooter

K: The scooter is me, I am the scooter, and we are one.

S & L: What movie would you want to be in if you were one of the characters?

K: Pirates of the Caribbean

S & L: If you could grow a beard, whose would it be like?

K: Captain Jack Sparrow. It'd be awesome to have the two parts coming down in the middle with the beads on them!

S & L: I'm sure many people last year saw your tail and wondered...what is your tail?

K: It's supposed to be a pig, but it's kinda long for a pig.

S & L: How many cars have you had at Immanuel?

K: Four, the funnest to drive is the one I have now. The one I had the most fun in is my minivan.

S & L: Give us your favorite high school memory, one from each year.

K: Freshman year would be the study hall with Wilke and Logan.

I don't really know about sophomore year. Sophomore year sucked.

Junior year was probably driving the truck in the woods.

Senior year, it's still to come.

Class of 2013

Aaron Christopher Joos

By Jess Schaller

Q: Who are you?

A: Aaron Christopher Joos

Q: Where were you born?

A: "here, around the snowy days" (Translation: Eau Claire, WI, December 20, 1994)

Q: If you could pick one sport for ILC to have that it doesn't, what would you pick?

A: Oh, definitely Archery.

Q: If you could change any rules that ILC has, what would you change?

A: I would allow earbuds during studyhall, or that we don't have to be in a classroom for study hall at all.

Q: Have you ever considered growing a beard?

A: Well, I'm not sure if I can.. So probably not.

Q: Do you use hair products?

A: hair products?

Q: Yeah, like what do you use to give your hair that "luster?"

A: I think I use conditioner.

Q: What's your favorite Prof. Buck Memory?

A: When Noeldner shook the jar with the tapeworm in it right after Prof. Buck told him not to shake it. Or when Drew spent the whole class in the bathroom.

Q: What other questions am I supposed to ask you?

A: I don't know. Don't they usually ask about college?

Q: Oh yeah, college! What are you doing?

A: I'm not sure. Either engineering or manufacturing at UWEC, Stout, CVTC, or UMD

Q: What are you going to miss most about Highschool?

A: Probably being around my friends. I'll have to make new friends in college, and I'm not very good at making friends!

Favorites:

Color: Green

Food: All American Feast (Famous Daves)

Prof: Buck

Day of the Week: Saturday

Class (ever): P. Buck Science & Health

Class (this year): Brit Lit

TV show: Walking Dead

Movie: True Grit or Gran Torino

ILC meal: Thanksgiving Dinner

MIKAYLA

ELLEN

MCDONALD

By Michelle Radtke

Mikayla Ellen McDonald was born in Neillsville, WI. True to her nature, she arrived extra early, two months to be exact.

She attended Osseo Elementary School for Kindergarten, before transferring to Messiah Lutheran

Grade School. However, she didn't actually move to Eau Claire until 2006. Now in high school Mikayla enjoys Computer II or any class that Prof. Schierenbeck teaches. While not in school, Mikayla enjoys reading and watching TV. She is also a frequent surfer of the Internet. Her favorite high school memory was when she got to meet her favorite actor, Jensen Ackles, in real life.

After high school, Mikayla plans on going to the University of Wisconsin-Stout to achieve her bachelor's in Graphic Design. She is looking forward to being done with school.

Mikayla's younger sister Shannon says in five years "Mikayla will still be in college, throwing herself into her studies so she can one day be the CEO of Wal-Mart."

Paige Louderman: She'll be out of college with her degree in graphic design, living in Texas, devoting her life to creating.

Hannah Knutson: She'll be homeless on the side of the road. Just kidding, probably in grad school because she's really smart.

Maddy Burns: Dead or forever alone in a house full of cats.

PASSAGE: HEBREWS 11:1

SUPERHERO: IRON MAN

BAND: DEF LEPPARD

COLOR: PURPLE

MOVIE: AVENGERS

CHILDHOOD CARTOON: DANNY PHANTOM

FAVORITES!

Pinterest

Nathan's View

By Nathan Buck

I don't count anything that happens to me to be a waste of my time or services. However, I might make an exception.

This exception would be Pinterest. Yes, I heartily disagree with Rachel. I mean no disrespect to her or any who like Pinterest, but I just do not like Pinterest, just as I do not like green eggs and ham. I acquired an account, went onto Pinterest, and was bored to death.

Don't look for my obituary in the daily bulletin. I survived, but the three minutes I spent on Pinterest took more than 5 years from my life. It was like I was stuck in a prison cell and all the windows were filled with witty jokes and pictures of random stuff. I cannot imagine a more time-consuming, disturbing, and blatantly stupid pastime. In the humor section, it's just the same types of joke over and over again applied to different things. In the other categories it's just a bunch of undefined photos of the most varied things you could imagine. For those of you who cannot go without logging onto Facebook every day, I hope dearly that most of that time is not spent using Pinterest. Seriously, what can you really do with it? It isn't tangible, no one's going to look for it on your resumé, and I can assure you that it leaves no sense of accomplishment whatsoever.

In other words, Pinterest is "Uninterest," or should be. I strongly caution the sane from using it. Not only because I don't like it, and feel a strong urge to cause its demise, but because it has been clinically proven to cause slight cases of malnutrition and fruit-basket-upset. (Just kidding)

Later, I went back onto Facebook and erased all accounts of my activities in Pinterest, realizing that really, there's so much to do in this world, and really not enough time to do it all. Why waste even a few hours of it on Pinterest? I rest my case.

Tears in Heaven – Eric Clapton
Hurts So Good – John Cougar Mellencamp
Feelings Show – Colbie Caillat
Thankful – Josh Groban
Thank God for Hometowns – Carrie Underwood
Hold Me (feat. tobyMac) – Jamie Grace
Before the Throne of God Above – Dave Hunt
Someday Soon – Francesca Battistelli
Float – Pacific Air
Home – Philip Phillips
Blue Sky – Francesca Battistelli
Gangnam Style - PSY

Be Thankful...

for this playlist.

And this moustache.

fun facts!

Brought to you by Abby Sydow

- " Almost is the longest English word with all the letters in alphabetical order.
- " The longest time a person has been in a coma is 37 years.
- " When two words are combined to form a single word (e.g. motor + hotel = motel, breakfast + lunch = brunch) the new word is called a portmanteau .
- On the new one hundred dollar bill, the time on the clock tower of Independence Hall is 2:22.
- " Kayaking or paddling in polluted rivers can make you sick, even if you don't fall in..
- " Average people airborne over the U.S. Any given hour: 61,000
- " In the U.S., about 14 people die from asthma attacks every day.
- " Coco Chanel started the trend for suntans in 1923 when she accidentally burnt on a cruise.
- " The most common speed unit sign in the U.S. is 25 mph.
- " Bulls are color blind.
- " Bats are the only mammals that have the ability to fly.

Favorites

Meal: Least favorite is ravioli.

Movie: Fast and Furious movies

Prof: Sullivan

Class: English with Sullivan

TV show: That 70's Show

Car: '69 Superbird

Joe Dirt quote: "You can keep that skoal, Baby."

Time to play hackey sack: Between supper and chapel

Kenny Cont. ...

We asked a few people where they see Kenny in ten years. Here's what they said.

Aaron Wilke: "In 10 years, I Aaron Michael Wilke, foresee Kenny in many different places and experiences. While we all know Kenny lives in Iowa, what you don't know is that in 10 years he will still be in Iowa. Although Kenny himself believes he will become an auto mechanic, alas this is a lie. He shall in fact become a professional coon hunter who in his free time fixes awesome cars as he sees fit. Kenneth's love life will take a sudden turn for the best as he meets the babe of the year, Meg, who by happen-chance also loves shooting racoons with an old fashioned medieval crossbow. This love will last forever, for nothing can conquer the pure awesomeness of hunting, cars, and babes."

Drew Naumann: "Kenny grows a really nasty beard. He then graduates and joins an elite order of warriors. He excels in this and befriends the president, a seemingly wise man. In his travels he meets a young, beautiful politician and he marries her. However, he becomes very angry with his order because of their opposition to his marriage. In his rage, he destroys the order and overthrows the government with the help of the president, who turns out to be Communist. His wife gives birth to twins, but she is overcome with grief of her husband's anger and dies shortly after giving birth. The twins are separated and hidden from their father. Kenny proceeds to build the Death Star."

Kurt: "Kenny will be getting mud on his four wheel drive truck by driving through corn fields on the way to the hospital for the birth of his third daughter."

Thanksgiving Football

By Joseph Stephan and Rodebaugh-licious

There comes a time each year when fathers and sons, and mothers and daughters gather around the tv set. That time is Thanksgiving football. Usually these games are entertaining and exciting, but to our dismay, this year is a different story. As always, the Cowboys and Lions will be playing on this day. This will be a disappointment to you unless you are Durst or a Schaller.

The 11:30 game will be the Texans vs. Lions. Our humble prediction is that the Texans will go to town on the Lions. Our final score prediction is 45-10, in favor of the Texans. Sorry, Schallers, that is just how it goes.

The 3:15 game will be the Redskins battling the Cowgirls. Sorry we meant Cowboys. We have a feeling that Tony Romo will botch this game like none other. Our final score prediction is RG3, and the Redskins, will win 17-13.

Finally, the Patriots and the Jets will face-off in the 7:20 game. Since we dislike both of these teams, we will not make a prediction for this game. Instead, go to Kurt and/or Curtis for a prediction.

Well, folks, we hope you will enjoy these games more than we will.

We'll see ya next time.

Whatchu 'bout to eat? By Logan Gerbitz

Photo: Claire Lovelien

If you were at any of the home volleyball games this year, you definitely heard the very energetic Lancer's cheering section. With cheers ranging from "volleyball" to "Bradovich" we were one of the loudest and most creative cheering sections Immanuel has had. You may be wondering how we came up with all these cheers. Well, most of them came from spontaneous ingenuity. Yeah, that's why a lot of them probably sounded pretty dumb, but hey, they got the job done. Now, if any of you think that cheering that loud isn't tough, try telling that to our voices after the game. If we don't answer, it's because we can't talk.

Beef Quesadilla. This was probably one of the most popular cheers that we had. The origins of this cheer came from, surprisingly, Taco John's. All credit for it goes to Kenny Winters. He and a coworker came up with a version of it while they were bored on a shift. If you want to hear the original version, which is really good, just ask him. He'll be more than happy to do it for you. You may have also heard the "cool kids" cheer. Credit for this goes to Jack Mielke, Brandon Wendland, and Josh Beekman. It started when they all dressed retro to one of the games. You also heard us yelling DAH at random times. Yeah, that was just when we didn't have anything else to say.

I'm looking forward to an even louder and more energetic basketball season. I would like to give credit to Ned for running up and down the sideline for the wave. I would also like to acknowledge Mr. Schaser for being possibly even more supportive and energetic than we were.

11

Taco John's Drive Thru. Whatchu 'bout to eat?
BEEF QUESADILLA BEEF BEEF QUESADILLA
Woop! Woop!

2012 Flag Football Top 10 Plays and Players

#10 - Pick – 6: On Sep. 10 Ned Sandhoefner returned an interception for 70 yards that helped the Hawks beat the Bears 19-7.

#9 - Dangerous Secondary – There were a total of 72 interceptions this season. Twelve of those were recorded by JD Schierenbeck. Grant Naumann had 8 interceptions, two of which were in the 4th quarter of one game to secure the win for the Bears.

#8 - Defensive Mayhem – Almost impossible to stop were Defensive Player of the Year, Jacob Gamble, and his teammate Sam Naumann, who both recorded 15 sacks. The Lineman of the Year, Aaron Wilke, also recorded 12.5 sacks.

#7 - Play of the Year – On Sep. 25 by the end of regulation, the Bears and the Hawks were tied 13-13. In the second overtime Austin Mayhew made the game-winning, finger-tip touchdown grab in the back of the end-zone to win the game for the Bears 25-19.

#6 - Overtime Shootout – The highest scoring game of the year (88 total points) was on Sep. 19. Quarterback brother rivals Tom and Joe Naumann led the Razors and Bears to a 44-44 triple overtime tie, foreshadowing a championship showdown.

#5 - Dynamic Duo – Offensive Players of the Year were quarterback Tom Naumann and wide receiver Mattias Schaller, who scored 19 touchdowns through the air during the season.

#4 - Fantasy Football Studs – If there were such thing as Fantasy Flag Football, you would want Grant Naumann and Mattias Schaller on your team. Both scored 19 touchdowns this year, but Grant had the slight edge, recording 2 extra points as well, for a total of 116 fantasy points, which earned him the MVP award.

#3 - Replacement Refs – Special thanks to the outstanding referees who kept things legal and fair without the aid of instant replay: Tom Naumann, Joe Naumann, Ben Libby, Sam Naumann, Ross Kok, and Caleb Meyer.

#2 - Flag Retirements – After 36 total years, the following players will hang up their flags: Luke Schaser (6), Ross Kok (6), Joe Naumann (7), Tom Naumann (8), Ben Libby (9).

#1 - The Don Skinner Championship Trophy – On Oct. 15, for the third straight year, the Razors and Bears faced off for the championship. Each with one championship victory, Tom and Joe Naumann took the field for the final time to break the sibling rivalry tie. After a 12-12 half-time tie, Tom Naumann scored the game-winning touchdown and extra point to lead the Razors to a 19-12 victory.

2012 Flag
Football
Champs

The
Razors

12

Becca Naumann Asks...

What are you thankful for?

Nichole B – Curtis
Abby S. - Lauren L.
Sarah T. - Christian friends
Rachel G. - Cereal
Olivia A. - Loving family and friends
Jo O. - Family
Jadyn M. - Dr Pepper
Lydia A. - Family and friends
Carl S. - Family
Danielle G. - Curtis
Austin M. - ILC
Lauren L. - Jesus
Emily H. - Curtis
Curtis S. - This school
Raju – The opportunity to study in the seminary
Nate K. - Salvation
Joci G. - Saturday mornings
Michaela N. - Smiles
Sierra L. - Friends

Seth L. - Kathy
Kirsten B. - Jadyn
Emily M. - Peef
Elijah W. - The people at this school
Caitlyn S. - My brother
Jo M. - Curtis
Josh B. - Joseph Albrecht and Justin
Timberlake
Caleb N. - Pie
Darin L. - Kiwis
Aaron J. - Free tacos!
Nate B. - Curtis and sustenance
Abi B. - Prof. Sippert!
Carl R. - Friends
Abby N. - My cousin Becca
Katie L. - Glitter

Wreck-It Ralph reviewed

By Derek Barthels

Having played a lot of old games in arcades and also on old gaming systems, Wreck-it-Ralph brought about some interest as soon as I saw the first preview, as many familiar gaming figures made appearances throughout the movie.

The plot tells the story of Wreck-it-Ralph, the bad guy in the arcade game Fix-it-Felix, Jr. Sick of being the bad guy, Ralph jumps into other arcade games to try to prove that he could be a hero if he wanted to. Along the way he runs into a number of hilarious supporting characters that help to tell the story very well.

The movie was enjoyable to watch, as characters from Mario, Pac Man, and even Street Fighter make appearances, along with a number of references to other popular games that will be easy to pick up if you've played them.

Of course, it's a good movie even if you haven't played those games, as it has an innovative and original plot, and the voice actors did a good job of portraying the characters' personalities and emotions.

Overall, it's a good family movie with a lot of laughs.

13

8 out of 10

Blast from the Past

By Nathan Buck

Where was I? Let's see...I hid in a locker; went back in time; saw some prehistoric ILC creatures; Oh yeah... I had just gotten away from a herd of Sarahpods.

If you think that part of the tale was bad, then wait till you hear how this turns out. Well, as I am backing away from the Sarahpod herd, I unwittingly back up into a small fern. I try to regain my balance, but the fern snaps and I cascade down a jungle hill, straight into a pack of Rode-a-raptors, commonly known by their Latin names: "Samus Rodebaughus" and "Nathanon Rodebaughus".

By now, this routine of falling into the midst of a pack of dinosaurs was getting old, so I merely say, "Hey guys. How's it going?"

I must have fatally confused them, for they drop to the ground and started to snore. That is, until I catch a glimpse of the most ferocious beast to walk the Campacious Period: The Professius Rodebaughus, or the Davearaptor! And he is charging right towards me!

Thankfully, I am miraculously saved by an odd character. I suddenly hear rustling behind me, and out of the foliage spring Saber-toothed Bernthals--4 in all-- which start attacking the Davearaptor. Then there is a loud voice that says, "Get you gone, you are a saucy raptor!"

The Davearaptor takes up its sleeping young, then flees through the woods. I look around and see a crazy looking man wearing a jaguar skin tunic and wielding a wooden club. But I recognize him immediately.

"Prof. Lau?"

"What ho? No!" He grunts as only a caveman professor can. "My name is No-See-You-Joe."

I am confused. "I see. So...No-See-You-Joe, is there anyplace around here without dinosaurs?"

No-See-You-Joe scratches his head. "Yes, follow me."

I follow him, and after an hour or so of walking, we come upon the sight of a huge wooden structure. Cavestudents with books under their arms wander all around.

"Welcome to the Aca-deemic-centa." The place is nice, but I notice other buildings farther off.

"Can we go to that building over there?" I ask.

"Yes," No-See-You-Joe nods. "That is the Gym-a-dim-dim."

But first I ask, "And who is that?" I point at a strange looking cavestudent wearing a tiger skin.

"Oh, that is a Wilke."

"That's it? Just a Wilke?"

"Yep. He no first name."

We continue on, and we come to the gym; a myriad of large trees forming a roof over a crude basketball court. I notice only one student is here; using a mallet head to grind some stones.

We walk over to the cavestudent, but he doesn't appear to see us.

"Hallow!" says No-See-You-Joe. "Hallow, Drewb Naumangooro."

I realize this must be Drew Naumann. I say, "President Drew, is that you?"

He does not register. He just keeps grinding the stones. However, after a couple minutes he says, "No me gusta bailar; huh huh huh." he continues to grind, and then says "Roots are fruits and sometime they got' ta be brutes." he then stops and looks at us funny. Suddenly, he reaches into his satchel and pulls out a strange looking plate and hands it to me.

I briefly have time to look at it. It is a mosaic tile, which depicts a roman villa; in the background, a towering mountain. Suddenly, there is a silence in the air, and things around me start to speed up. In moments, I am somewhere else; obviously further up in ILC's history.

To Be Continued...

14

CNC
AIA
RNR
LEL

If you saw the play, you would know I (Carl) was the guard who returned Sherlock's number in the last scene. It was a neat experience getting chosen for the play. As an actor, I had to memorize lines, perform actions, and basically turn into "not me." It was a really fun time, because I got to interact with people and got to know them.

We had a lot of fun putting it all together. We will all have our favorite lines, props, characters, and backstage memories. The only part I didn't like was the fact that it went so fast. I am so glad it went so well and I look forward to many more productions. Thanks to all my fellow cast members, Rachel Schrader, Dwight Krause, tech crew, Aaron Gullerud, Leah Fleischer, Claire Abbas, and to all the pros for making this play so awesome.

Bravo!

By Darin Lau

Several students, and even a few professors, recently entertained crowds with the play "Moriarty's Revenge." Living on campus for the majority of my life, I've witnessed nearly every play Immanuel has produced in the past 10 years or so, and I can say for certain that "Moriarty's Revenge" is the best one I've seen, in my opinion. The play mingled humor, drama, and cleverness in a brilliant way. I think the main reason I liked this play so much was simply the acting. Kevin Schrader posed as James Watson, the protagonist in the play. He perfectly played off a character that everyone has to root for, with his likable charisma and his constant drive to help mankind. I also can't go without mentioning Philip Reim, the freshman phenom who nailed the part of Moriarty. I'm fairly certain the play committee won't be lacking a go-to-guy for a lead role in the next couple of years. He's got this acting thing down to a science! The biggest surprise for me was Nathanael Krause, who played Sherlock Holmes. He brilliantly portrayed the charismatic and yes, very over-dramatic part. I was loving Krause though out the play, and then he really reeled me in on the high-pitched maid bit, which he hit out of the park!

Finally, at the end, he successfully portrayed Holmes as we all know him: a genius. Emily Marzofka was quite excellent as well. She played the "evil," (emphasis on the quotation marks), sidekick of Moriarty. Dancing around with her stupid bear, saying unnecessary things, and moving around flamboyantly gave the whole crowd something to laugh about. Word on the street is that she didn't even have to act. The role fit her perfectly! For crying out loud, she didn't even have to change her appearance! That's basically what she looks like every day. Just kidding, Emily. So many other things about this play were good. I thought Carl Strike and Austin Mayhew were hilarious. They played to daft, gullible guards that were quite desperate for a date. Hey, some things don't change from reality to stage. Oh, just joking guys! I'll stop ripping on the cast. Anyway, hats off to the producers, cast, and any other individuals that helped make this play a good one.